Stone Lab Open House 2019

Visit Gibraltar Island, spend time with fellow FOSL members and catch up with Ohio Sea Grant and Stone Lab staff at the annual Stone Lab Open House on Saturday, September 7, 2019.

Nominations for 2019-2020 FOSL Board Members

Elections for the 2019-2020 Friends of Stone Lab Board will be held after the Stone Lab Open House. A list of candidates is posted on the FOSL website.
Putting the Nature Back in Nature Scientist
Anthony Tambini had never been to the Lake Erie islands, but that didn’t stop him from signing up for a thirteen-week stay on Gibraltar Island. And a year later, Anthony is back for another summer.

Growing, for Science
Stone Lab, Ohio Sea Grant’s research and education facility on Lake Erie, has been a home for researchers studying the lake for over a century. A recent bill from the Ohio Legislature will help the lab continue that legacy.

Lake Erie Islands State Water Trail
Ohio Department of Natural Resources Director Mary Mertz designated the Lake Erie Islands Water Trail as an Ohio state water trail on August 6. Ohio Sea Grant worked with the Put-In-Bay Township Park District and the National Park Service to develop the trails guide.

There’s Nothing Smeary About Lake Erie Anymore
Ohio Sea Grant education students brought important changes to Dr. Seuss’ The Lorax. Dr. Rosanne Fortner remembers that day in 1986.

Why Join the Friends of Stone Laboratory?
FOSL started primarily as a group of alumni, faculty, and staff who wanted to support Stone Laboratory, science education and Lake Erie, and give future students the opportunity to benefit from the Stone Lab experience. No matter their reason for joining, members are dedicated and concerned about the future of Stone Laboratory and Lake Erie.
