Stone Lab's Research Experience for Undergraduates (REU) Scholarship Program teaches students in five weeks (June 18-July 22) how to conduct scientific, in-the-field research alongside top scientists.

While taking a five-week course at Stone Lab, REU students spend their non-class days focused on research. REU students work closely with their research supervisors to design an experiment, collect samples, learn how to analyze data and give a final presentation to their peers. Involvement can even continue beyond the summer, as students have the opportunity to attend local and regional conferences and co-author scientific journal articles about their research.

This summer, students will conduct projects in the following focus areas:

- Botany
- Fisheries Research/Management
- Ichthyology
- Limnology*
- Ornithology
- Ecology

Two of the four limnology REU students will have the opportunity to extend their REU from 5 weeks to 8 weeks, during which time they will work with Research Coordinator Dr. Justin Chaffin in the Stone Lab Water Quality Laboratory, earning an extra credit hour and being paid a salary for 20 hours per week with their additional tuition, room and meals provided.*
